

DYING LIKE ANNIE GOODWIN.

A Pretty Servant Girl the Victim of Malpractice.

Her Betrayal in Custody—Police After a Harlem Doctor.

Frances Weichselbaum, a handsome young servant-girl, was taken to New York Hospital at an early hour this morning suffering from the effects of a criminal operation which may cause her death.

Frederick Harduch, a Seventh avenue butcher, and Clara Couch, of 60 West Fifty-third street, at whose house it is charged the operation was performed, are under arrest.

The young woman's home is at 510 West Nineteenth street, where her mother and sisters live. She is a very prepossessing girl, and it is said, was inclined to be wild and wayward. She is twenty-one years old, she has been living out at service for some time. She went home to her mother yesterday and confessed that she was in trouble. Last night she was very sick, and Dr. Benedict, of 330 West Nineteenth street, who is one of the Health Department inspectors, was summoned. He found her in a critical condition, caused by a criminal operation, and advised her removal to the hospital.

Dr. Benedict informed the police of the West Twentieth street station of the case, and detectives were detailed to investigate. Information they obtained from Miss Weichselbaum, led to the arrest of Harduch and Mrs. Couch.

Harduch is a man of twenty-seven years. He owns two butcher shops on Seventh avenue. Detective Maloney arrested him at his home, 204 West Twenty-seventh street, at 4 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Clara Couch lives in a flat at 60 West Fifty-third street. Maloney arrested her at 6 o'clock and took her to the station. She is twenty-seven years old.

Miss Weichselbaum told the detectives that Harduch betrayed her last December, and that when she discovered her condition he gave her money to have an operation performed. She was then employed as a servant by Mrs. Couch. She said she told her trouble to Mrs. Couch and the latter sent for a doctor, who performed the operation on her, using instruments.

She said it was about Feb. 18 when she was operated on in Mrs. Couch's flat by the doctor in question. She paid him $100, which, she said, Harduch had given her.

The girl remained with Mrs. Couch until three weeks ago, when she got another place. Yesterday she became so sick that she had to go home.

The physicians at the New York Hospital found the young woman in a terrible condition. She nearly died from hemorrhage after reaching the hospital. This morning, Detective Carey and Maloney took Mrs. Couch and young Harduch to the hospital and arranged them to the unfortunate young woman's bedside.

Asked if it was at Mrs. Couch's house where the operation was performed, the girl nodded her head. She pointed, at Harduch and declared that he was her betrayer.

The prisoners were then taken to court. Harduch admitted to the detective that he had been intimate with the girl, and that he had been keeping company with her. He admitted giving her some money after she had asked him for it.

He declared that she demanded $100 from him, and when he refused to give her that sum, she threatened to make trouble for him. The doctor who is charged with having performed the operation on the girl, said he had performed the operation on her, and that he had been intimate with her.

GOLDEN RULE'S DEATH-LIST.

Twelve or Thirteen Dead and Most of the Victims Unknown.

Overturned Varnish Said to Have Set the Boat on Fire.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) CINCINNATI, April 1.—There is but one person whose loss in the burning of the steamer Golden Rule at Main street wharf last evening is positively known. That person is Miss Nellie Maloney, of 445 Seventh street, this city, who was seen to fall into the river and drown. But at 1 o'clock this morning it became inferentially certain that Frank T. Riley, the second mate, was lost. He cannot be found by his wife and his other friends and relatives. He was believed to be working in the hold in command of several men when the fire started.

Mrs. O'Leary, the cook, is believed to have been lost; so also are Burk Warner, Billy Madson and Mack Homan, stewards, of none of whom can a trace be discovered.

There are rumors that there were from six to fifteen deckhands and rousters about work in the hold at the time of the explosion that fired the boat. One rouster, that escaped from the hold reports that nine men were in it when he escaped.

The first mate, Barney Connell, last saw the second mate, Riley, on the boiler deck, and thinks he may have gone down to save the men at work below.

The best judgment, balancing probabilities at present writing, is that seven or eight have perished, exclusive of the list given above, making a total of twelve or thirteen.

Those in the hold being rousters or deckhands are likely to have had no settled home and no friends here to miss them.

Some of the escapes were to the Keystone State, which took the rescued ones to Covington, and others were by ways and means that cannot be definitely described. This separated friends and even families. Captain Shink's family was separated thus, and their agony was as excruciating as their subsequent reunion was joyous.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons and her two daughters, all of Cincinnati, were separated for a time and were reported lost. They met in Covington. Mrs. Fitzsimmons' mind was shattered, but, it is hoped, only temporarily.

Mrs. T. M. Deveraux, wife of Meredith Deveraux, of the Merchant Dispatch, was on the upper deck bidding her relative, Mrs. Peters, an invalid, farewell, when they were suddenly cut off from escape by the fire in front. Both women jumped to the lower deck of the Keystone State, nearly twenty feet below, and escaped almost unscathed.

Scenes and incidents could be multiplied indefinitely. Both sides of the river were filled with light and are still filled at daylight with anxious seekers for the lost, and the rupture of meeting friends alive was unnumbered.

The ill-fated steamer had an unusually large cargo, one shipment of which was 4000 kegs of nails, another, 40 tons of barbed wire, another still 30 tons of wagon material, besides an immense quantity of railroad iron.

The Golden Rule was valued at $23,000; insured for $15,000.

It is related by a negro rouster about who escaped, that the fire started from the bursting of a vessel of varnish, which was ignited by the lights used by the men in the hold.

CEASED TO CLAIM A THRONE.

And Now the Duke of Cumberland Gets His Hanover Estates.

Anarchist Ravachol's Permit—General News by Cable.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) BERLIN, April 1.—The Lower House of the Prussian Diet today passed the Guelph Fund bill, which provides for the removal of the acquisition placed upon the property of the late King George of Hanover, and allows of the property being turned over to the Duke of Cumberland, the King's son and heir.

Hanover was a sovereign kingdom from 1814 to 1866. The monarchy was hereditary in the male line. In 1866 Hanover became involved in a war with Prussia and was defeated, becoming a Prussian province.

The property of the King was sequestered by the victor, and owing to the destitution with which the late King refused to renounce his rights to the throne of Hanover, Prussia has hitherto felt herself constrained to keep a firm grasp of the rich inheritance.

The Duke of Cumberland proclaimed his rights to the throne of Hanover in 1878, but negotiations inaugurated recently led to an understanding by which the Duke entirely renounced the impracticable position he had maintained in the face of modern Germany, and he will now receive the much discussed Guelph Fund.

Murderer Deeming Hooted At but Not Lynched at Melbourne. MELBOURNE, April 1.—This morning the steamer Ballarat arrived at her wharf and the murderer, Deeming, was quietly brought ashore.

An immense crowd assembled to get a glimpse at the prisoner, but the route to the prison was strongly guarded by the police, and it would hardly have been possible for the excited people to take him from his captors. The crowd indulged in hooting at Deeming, but beyond this there was no disturbance of any kind.

Shortly after he landed Deeming was taken to the Police Court, where he was formally charged with the murder of his wife at Windsor. The magistrate remanded him for a week.

Anarchist Ravachol Had a Permit to Obtain Cartridges. PARIS, April 1.—It is reported that a regular permit has been discovered at the lodging of Ravachol, the anarchist, authorizing him to obtain 1,500 cartridges from the dynamite stores near the Bourse. The police are inquiring as to how he obtained the permit.

M. Dresch, the Police Commissioner who arrested Ravachol, and the restaurant keeper and waiter who betrayed him to the police have received menacing letters.

Strong Man Sampson's Wife Attempts Suicide by Poisoning. LONDON, April 1.—Edith Sampson, wife of Carl Augustus Sampson, the American "Strong Man," who is now awaiting trial on the charge of stealing a quantity of jewelry from Mrs. Bernstein, whose lover he was, last night attempted suicide by taking laudanum. Prompt medical work saved her.

LABOR DENOUNCES BYRNES.

Action to Be Taken Against the Brooklyn Assemblyman.

Dinkelspiel Also to Be Called to Account on the Speedway Bill.

Assemblyman Thomas F. Byrnes, of Brooklyn, was hotly denounced to-day by prominent labor leaders in this city for having unnecessarily made himself obnoxious to the labor committee who waited upon the Senate and Assembly Committees at Albany yesterday in the interests of the repeal of the Park Speedway bill.

William McNair, of D. A. 40, Knights of Labor, said this morning:

"The action of Assemblyman Byrnes was simply contemptible. Byrnes has always posed as a friend of the people. His action in this matter was contrary to all such pretensions. We were having a hard enough time with the other members of the committee. He had no reason to say a word."

"Instead he got up and said that he was a Knight of Labor, a member of the Central Labor Union and waved a green card to substantiate his statements."

"Byrnes said that his constituents had not asked him to act in favor of the repeal of the bill. Of course they did not. What has Brooklyn got to do with Central Park?"

"Now Byrnes is not a member of the Knights of Labor. He was, but the law of the order forbids the holding of membership in the organization and a political position, such as Byrnes holds, at the same time."

"If he is a Knight of Labor he is one against law. He is not a member of the Central Labor Union of Brooklyn, either. He is a member of the Horsehoes' Union and that is all."

"There have been steps already begun to oust Byrnes from all connection with organized labor as a member."

"He can no longer pose as a friend of labor. His days in that capacity are numbered. His action was personal and not the outgrowth of internal dissension in the labor ranks."

"I would also like to call attention to the statements of Assemblyman Dinkelspiel. He said that his constituents were in favor of the driveway."

"They are not. To prove to him that they are opposed to it a mass-meeting will be held in his district to-morrow night."

"It is an outrage," emphasized Delegate Edwards, of the Hexagon Labor Club, "and the conduct of these gentlemen who pretend to be law-abiding should be held up to the scorn of the laborer. Our board sent five of the fine labor representatives present and we expected of them at least would receive gentlemanly treatment."

"This Assemblyman Byrnes, of Brooklyn, who is here, if indeed he ever was in sympathy with labor, has conducted so far from that condition of his mind."

"A. J. Heinrich, of the Marble Cutters Helpers' Union, was one of the labor representatives in the delegation."

Painters' Union. "because it would deprive the people of a portion of their pleasure ground. When Senator Plunkett attacks this Board by charging its members with never having worked he makes a serious mistake. He has been sent to the Assembly thirteen times on his own admission and I think he has outlived his term of usefulness. To my mind his course and conduct, show that he does not represent the majority and he should be relegated to obscurity."

It was learned at the rooms of the Board of Walking Delegates, 12 East Fifteenth street, that the exhibition of the Company of Fifty-five that visited Albany would be held this afternoon at the headquarters of the Board.

At the meeting of the Central Labor Union next Sunday, Byrnes' action will receive more attention. It is expected that a mass-meeting will be held on Monday night in opposition to the Speedway bill.
